Join Great Lakes Science Center on March 17 and 18 for a Stay Curious Weekend and discounted admission

CLEVELAND (February 28, 2018) – Join Great Lakes Science Center for a Stay Curious Weekend for St. Patrick’s Day and save $2 off the price of a general admission ticket, just for wearing something green!

Guests of all ages will enjoy hands-on activities, including make your own slime, big science shows, and amazing demonstrations, so don your greens and stay curious on Saturday, March 17 and Sunday, March 18!

10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, March 17

- 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. -- BASF Playful Polymers: Things will get slippery, slimy, ooey and gooey while exploring the chemistry behind slime and making your own green concoction to take home.
- 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. – NEORS D Enviro scape: Learn how you can protect the environment and “be green” as we investigate how pollution affects everyone.
- 12:15 p.m. -- Magic of Matter Demonstration: What’s the matter with matter? We de-mystify the mystery of matter while exploring and experimenting with physical changes. We’ll uncover the truth behind why some materials behave in unexpected ways.
- 2:15 p.m. Strange Science Big Science Show: Experience stunningly stupendous science experiments!
